
MY PROFILE

Andrew Fisher

Andrew developed a passion for real estate early in life through his family's love of buying and selling homes in the Perth area. Catching the bug, he has built, bought and sold many homes throughout the suburbs of Perth.

Andrew spent a number of years refining his skills for the industry by working as a consultant to global mining and finance companies and has also owned his own services business. His background provided him with the ideal skill-set to act as an agent who can ensure his customers obtain the best outcome when chosen to represent them in the sale of their home.

He is dedicated to representing his clients to the very best of his ability, providing a first class experience while achieving the best possible outcome. As your agent, Andrew's goal is to provide you with a clear negotiation advantage, reliable local market information, professional guidance, valuable advice and responsiveness in communications.

Andrew uses the internet and social media to stay right up to date with the market and is an active user of social media and a real estate blogger. Outside of work, Andrew loves spending time with his family and has a passion for food and technology.

Testimonials

Having worked with Andrew for many years, I can say he is a highly motivated and extremely capable person that takes great pride in his work and on delivering quality outcomes. His communication and negotiation skills are outstanding, he works hard to understand what is important to his customers to provide them with best guidance. Andrew is highly knowledgeable and creative in how he approaches business and uses modern strategies to create and foster opportunities. He is very relatable and someone that you can trust.

Robyn Wilson

I have had the pleasure of working with Andrew twice. He has a huge mental capacity to absorb and contextualize the needs of the customer, is highly articulate and has the tenacity and clarity of vision to get results. Andrew is an outstanding performer - probably the best I have ever worked with.

Steve Pretzel

Andrew is a highly professional person with the ability to handle challenges and varying professional landscapes. He achieves results and comes highly recommended.

Lee Campbell

